Is the Salvation Army anti-gay? Definitely.

- In 2001, the Salvation Army headquarters stopped all domestic partner benefits in California because they were going to gay staff members and their families
- In 2004, they threatened to close soup kitchens in New York City and stop programs for the homeless if the local government enacted legislation that would require firms that do business with New York to offer health benefits to partners of gay staffers
- The Salvation Army worked closely with the previous Bush administration to make it easier for government-funded religious groups to discriminate against gay people
- The Salvation Army has actively fought against the repeal of anti-gay laws overseas

In this season of peace and charity, why not give your energy to a positive organization, rather than one that is spreading hate and bigotry?

And please stop ringing that damn bell... it's really loud and annoying

Is the Salvation Army anti-gay? Definitely.

- In 2001, the Salvation Army headquarters stopped all domestic partner benefits in California because they were going to gay staff members and their families
- In 2004, they threatened to close soup kitchens in New York City and stop programs for the homeless if the local government enacted legislation that would require firms that do business with New York to offer health benefits to partners of gay staffers
- The Salvation Army worked closely with the previous Bush administration to make it easier for government-funded religious groups to discriminate against gay people
- The Salvation Army has actively fought against the repeal of anti-gay laws overseas

In this season of peace and charity, why not give your energy to a positive organization, rather than one that is spreading hate and bigotry?

And please stop ringing that damn bell... it's really loud and annoying

Is the Salvation Army anti-gay? Definitely.

- In 2001, the Salvation Army headquarters stopped all domestic partner benefits in California because they were going to gay staff members and their families
- In 2004, they threatened to close soup kitchens in New York City and stop programs for the homeless if the local government enacted legislation that would require firms that do business with New York to offer health benefits to partners of gay staffers
- The Salvation Army worked closely with the previous Bush administration to make it easier for government-funded religious groups to discriminate against gay people
- The Salvation Army has actively fought against the repeal of anti-gay laws overseas

In this season of peace and charity, why not give your energy to a positive organization, rather than one that is spreading hate and bigotry?

And please stop ringing that damn bell... it's really loud and annoying

Is the Salvation Army anti-gay? Definitely.

- In 2001, the Salvation Army headquarters stopped all domestic partner benefits in California because they were going to gay staff members and their families
- In 2004, they threatened to close soup kitchens in New York City and stop programs for the homeless if the local government enacted legislation that would require firms that do business with New York to offer health benefits to partners of gay staffers
- The Salvation Army worked closely with the previous Bush administration to make it easier for government-funded religious groups to discriminate against gay people
- The Salvation Army has actively fought against the repeal of anti-gay laws overseas

In this season of peace and charity, why not give your energy to a positive organization, rather than one that is spreading hate and bigotry?

And please stop ringing that damn bell... it's really loud and annoying

Is the Salvation Army anti-gay? Definitely.

- In 2001, the Salvation Army headquarters stopped all domestic partner benefits in California because they were going to gay staff members and their families
- In 2004, they threatened to close soup kitchens in New York City and stop programs for the homeless if the local government enacted legislation that would require firms that do business with New York to offer health benefits to partners of gay staffers
- The Salvation Army worked closely with the previous Bush administration to make it easier for government-funded religious groups to discriminate against gay people
- The Salvation Army has actively fought against the repeal of anti-gay laws overseas

In this season of peace and charity, why not give your energy to a positive organization, rather than one that is spreading hate and bigotry?

And please stop ringing that damn bell... it's really loud and annoying

Is the Salvation Army anti-gay? Definitely.

- In 2001, the Salvation Army headquarters stopped all domestic partner benefits in California because they were going to gay staff members and their families
- In 2004, they threatened to close soup kitchens in New York City and stop programs for the homeless if the local government enacted legislation that would require firms that do business with New York to offer health benefits to partners of gay staffers
- The Salvation Army worked closely with the previous Bush administration to make it easier for government-funded religious groups to discriminate against gay people
- The Salvation Army has actively fought against the repeal of anti-gay laws overseas

In this season of peace and charity, why not give your energy to a positive organization, rather than one that is spreading hate and bigotry?

And please stop ringing that damn bell... it's really loud and annoying

Is the Salvation Army anti-gay? Definitely.

- In 2001, the Salvation Army headquarters stopped all domestic partner benefits in California because they were going to gay staff members and their families
- In 2004, they threatened to close soup kitchens in New York City and stop programs for the homeless if the local government enacted legislation that would require firms that do business with New York to offer health benefits to partners of gay staffers
- The Salvation Army worked closely with the previous Bush administration to make it easier for government-funded religious groups to discriminate against gay people
- The Salvation Army has actively fought against the repeal of anti-gay laws overseas

In this season of peace and charity, why not give your energy to a positive organization, rather than one that is spreading hate and bigotry?

And please stop ringing that damn bell... it's really loud and annoying

Is the Salvation Army anti-gay? Definitely.

- In 2001, the Salvation Army headquarters stopped all domestic partner benefits in California because they were going to gay staff members and their families
- In 2004, they threatened to close soup kitchens in New York City and stop programs for the homeless if the local government enacted legislation that would require firms that do business with New York to offer health benefits to partners of gay staffers
- The Salvation Army worked closely with the previous Bush administration to make it easier for government-funded religious groups to discriminate against gay people
- The Salvation Army has actively fought against the repeal of anti-gay laws overseas

In this season of peace and charity, why not give your energy to a positive organization, rather than one that is spreading hate and bigotry?

And please stop ringing that damn bell... it's really loud and annoying

Is the Salvation Army anti-gay? Definitely.

- In 2001, the Salvation Army headquarters stopped all domestic partner benefits in California because they were going to gay staff members and their families
- In 2004, they threatened to close soup kitchens in New York City and stop programs for the homeless if the local government enacted legislation that would require firms that do business with New York to offer health benefits to partners of gay staffers
- The Salvation Army worked closely with the previous Bush administration to make it easier for government-funded religious groups to discriminate against gay people
- The Salvation Army has actively fought against the repeal of anti-gay laws overseas

In this season of peace and charity, why not give your energy to a positive organization, rather than one that is spreading hate and bigotry?

And please stop ringing that damn bell... it's really loud and annoying

Is the Salvation Army anti-gay? Definitely.

- In 2001, the Salvation Army headquarters stopped all domestic partner benefits in California because they were going to gay staff members and their families
- In 2004, they threatened to close soup kitchens in New York City and stop programs for the homeless if the local government enacted legislation that would require firms that do business with New York to offer health benefits to partners of gay staffers
- The Salvation Army worked closely with the previous Bush administration to make it easier for government-funded religious groups to discriminate against gay people
- The Salvation Army has actively fought against the repeal of anti-gay laws overseas

In this season of peace and charity, why not give your energy to a positive organization, rather than one that is spreading hate and bigotry?

And please stop ringing that damn bell... it's really loud and annoying